

As an alumnus of Gateway College, this is where it all started for me. The person I am and the position I am in today Gateway plays a part in my successes. This would have not been possible without the support of my teachers, the support staff and wider Gateway community. They always say it is at university where you make friends for life (which is true), but I also made friends for life at this college. During my time at Gateway I was involved in vast opportunities and just to name a few: the Student Ambassador programme, being part of Student Council, also being involved in a Student Exchange programme. Over the years of studying at Gateway these opportunities helped me grow as a person, meeting new people, being exposed to different and new cultures, build my skills, confidence and so much more. As a Governor I would like to give back and support the students and the institution which supported me and my ambitions.

I am an Events Officer at Loughborough University. I am passionate about supporting young people and their ambitions. I have the transferrable skills and knowledge which will help me in the role. I have experience of working in and being involved in Widening Participation, Student Outreach and Student Recruitment. This involves working with young people from all backgrounds to help raise aspirations, to make them think about their positive future and help them pave a pathway for their ambitions/life goals.
