

RAJKANWARPREET (RAJ) SINGH

Raj works as an assistant in the Physiotherapy department at Glenfield Hospital.

He helps to set up the gyms by moving and handling specialist equipment.

He has to make sure that the gyms are ready for use, for patients when they have their exercise classes.

Raj sometimes finds it hard to focus on his tasks after his lunch break.

“Everything I have been doing so far at my placement, has been enjoyable. I like the fact that I get on well with all staff at Glenfield Hospital and with my mentor called Vicky.”

Moving and handling heavy equipment in a safe and efficient manner can be quite difficult, he says that it requires a lot of attention.

“I also have the duty to replenish information leaflets and literature place around the department.”

“I have to use my communication skills to speak to patients. I book patients in using the NHS system, dealing with referring and discharging and looking after their documents.”
